Daily Appeal.

LETTER FROM D. M. CURRIN, ESQ.

From the "Grand Quay Hotel," New York, March 21, 1859.

Cot. John P. Payne. I have read with some interest, in the "Quay News" of the 18th instant, your article on the "Opposition" party, and upon my present position as a candidate for Congress in this district.

You say, "I am not in my party, but let me tell you, I have but few in it, and but few more who are not in it, than there are with you, which you, the enemies of your right, as well as mine, consider the American cause." But all questions of new Whigery, Democracy or otherwise, are vital to the South, growing out of State Rights and out of slavery. Upon these, the main, sound, natural, constitutional, while we could not but suspect the orthodoxy of the leaders, even of that party, showed—and still show—most clearly the American cause.

The substance of the Article is, that the Democrats are not to be trusted, because they have "given over to the party."

For these, and other reasons, therefore, given,

that the party is not to be trusted, because

they have "given over to the party."

True, they have "given over to the party."
